

Visual regimes align with an unseen physical signal

Measured laser power is used only for external validation, not for regime discovery

